

Copper

Copper is one of the few natural materials that age beautifully over time. It is also known for its durability and strength. A-1 Metal Products fabricates many of their products using copper for residential and commercial projects. They have supplied copper louvers, flashings, gutters, duct work and specialty items for many customers.

Custom Orders

Often a residential or commercial building requires a product which is not in our catalog. A-1 Metal Products specializes in working with the customer to design and fabricate a one-of-a-kind product. Our design specialists take your specifications for basic size and shape, designs the piece and then fabricates it.

Through years of experience creating custom pieces, you can rest assured your custom order will be correct and perfectly executed.

A-1 METAL PRODUCTS

Sheet Metal Fabrication for the Industry & Trade

Who We Are.

A-1 Metal Products is one of Southern California's oldest manufacturers of sheet metal products for the commercial and residential construction industry. The family-run business manufactures a complete range of sheet metal products and has been committed to offering quality products since 1965.

From its 20,000 sq. ft. manufacturing facility near Los Angeles, A-1 Metal Products provides a full line of sheet metal roofing, heating and air conditioning products. The company also designs and fabricates custom and specialty orders for commercial and residential settings.

A-1 Metal Products has been in business for forty-seven years – so what's the key to their success?

First off, they know the sheet metal industry and their expertise shows. There's a pride of workmanship and a high level of quality control with each order that leaves the facility. Good customer service is crucial and special care is given to ensure that the final product meets the exact needs of the customer.

Orders are delivered on-time, as promised, throughout the U.S. Delivery is free to Los Angeles, Orange County, San Diego, Ventura and Ontario/Riverside.
